Sirs:

Re: J. T. Malange – Sin# 704-349-398—Pension Plan Inquiry.

With reference to your letter of June 8, 2004 in response to mine of June 1, 2004 be advised:

In the second paragraph of your letter the word “complainant” is used and I assume the word “compliance” was meant and this response is in that context.

I made no inquiry relating to the regulation of our plan or disclosure requirements of the British Columbia Pension Benefits Act much less whether the plan was in compliance with that act as your letter indicates.

My specific inquiries, through my June 1, 2004, letter were:

- 1.) What procedures, if any, are in place regarding the implementation of your policy of information distribution?
- 2.) Has the policy of information distribution and/or related procedures for accessing information been published for the perusal and information of plan members?
- 3.) If the policy and/or related procedures have been published I wish to know where it was published and the date of publication?

Specific documents I would like to inspect are:

- a.) The legal and/or incorporation documents pertaining to all the various entities incorporated within our pension plan, e.g. The Coast Bastion Hotel or Inn, The Columbia Square Shopping Mall in New Westminster and others that may not be known to plan beneficiaries because they have never been informed by plan trustees that these entities exist.

- b.) The financial statements of the various entities established within the scope of our pension plan which are an integral part of that plan; e.g., The Coast Bastion Hotel or Inn, The Realty Division of the pension plan, the Columbia Square Shopping Mall in New Westminster and others that may not be known to plan beneficiaries because they have never been informed by plan trustees that these entities exist.

Yours truly,

James Malange (pensioner)
